The Aquasol Corporation Announces the Launch of its Website's Complete German Translation

International company offers the seventh translation of its website to meet growing demand.

North Tonawanda, NY – The Aquasol Corporation, an innovative and eco-friendly welding supply manufacturer, has recently launched the German translation of its website. The company previously launched complete translations of its site in Arabic, French, Portuguese, Russian, and Spanish.

With the company's established presence in over seventy countries, the demand for technical instructions in a variety of localized languages rapidly grew. Aquasol, committed to education, acknowledged the need and originally expanded its website to include complete translations in six languages. Recognizing the increasing demand from native and international speakers of German, the company again expanded its website to fully accommodate the important language.

Project supervisors and local engineers of international conglomerates are now able to access vital and intricate technical information in the German language.

“Respecting culture is important to the Aquasol Corporation. As an international company with our website now available in seven prominent languages, we are able to expand our reach to prospects who may be interested in our product line. Furthermore, our customers can access technical details which will enhance their work efficiency,” said Aquasol President, Mike Hacikyan.

The Aquasol Corporation is the manufacturer of Aquasol[®] Water-Soluble Paper and Tape; EZ Wipes[®], EZ Purge[®] and EZ Zone[®] Tape.
